

BEING PASSED

Don't be the cause of an accident when another driver is trying to pass you. Don't let yourself be hit by another vehicle.

When moving in traffic, be aware of what's behind you, and help the other driver when he or she begins to pass. You can do this by moving slightly to the right if that little extra room is needed, and by slowing down slightly to make it easier for the other to get past you.

When changing lanes or moving into a turn lane, signal early so other drivers know your intentions. Check all mirrors and glance over your shoulder before moving into the lane.

When leaving a parking space, wait for a break in traffic. Don't begin moving out and crowding the traffic already moving in the lane.
